UNTOLD MISERY

RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hydropneumatic injections of morphia. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in putties; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to stretch, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad bricklayer."

AYER'S

The Only World's Fair Sarsaparilla.

AYER'S PILLS cure Headache.

This Is Your Opportunity.

On receipt of ten cents, cash or stamps, a generous sample will be mailed of the most popular Catarrh and Hay Fever Cure (Ely's Cream Balm) sufficient to demonstrate the great merits of the remedy.

ELY BROTHERS,

56 Warren St., New York City.

Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mont., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement, "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."

Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Park Church, Helena, Mont.

Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for catarrh and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.

Pope as a Trickster.

Mr. Leslie Stephen writes strongly, but not too strongly, when he says in reference to the correspondence of Pope, "It is painful to track the strange deceptions of a man of genius as a detective unravels the misdeeds of an accomplished swindler."

Pope was a confirmed liar, and he lied very hard indeed about the publication of his letters. Having by means of a trick secured their publication by a notorious piratical bookseller, he at once declared that the letters were forgeries. Yet while he was calling out for their suppression he was really anxious for their sale. The details of all his trickery and lying need not be gone into here.

Pope, full of vanity and longing to publish his correspondence, had purposely employed a notorious bookseller to issue an edition in order that he might then be able to say that the version was a piratical one, and that in self defense he must publish the genuine text. The odd thing is that though the whole affair was exposed at the time, it does not seem to have done Pope any harm. Dr. Johnson, indeed, says that it did him good, and that the nation was full of praise for the admirable qualities of candor, benevolence and fidelity which the letters revealed. Here is some comfort for any living literary genius who has not yet published his private correspondence. —Longman's Magazine.

A Ray at the Men.

If a woman cannot throw a stone or catch a mouse, men ought to cease plaguing her about her disability. As a rule, men do things which they cannot—writing up tolets, for instance. A man once told me that a bride wore "white corduroy, cut on the bias and trimmed with crinoline." Anything more awful than that I haven't encountered until today, when I read of another bride "arrayed in cream organdie silk and muslin, trimmed with chinquin." Fancy the honey turned to gall in reading descriptions like these after the wedding.

Oh, yes, the rural correspondent is abroad in the land. Last week one of him sent the following note to his weekly newspaper:

"Mr. Slick celebrated the semiannual of his first wife's death by getting married again." —Polly in Chicago Times-Herald.

His Rates.

Executor—Pray, sir, what do you charge for a funeral service?

The Rev. Mr. Canter—I always charge, my dear brother, in proportion to the property left behind. Couple of guineas for a poor man, 5 guineas for £10,000, and so on.

Executor—Well, my friend has left £50,000, so that would be £25; but it seems a good deal.

The Rev. Mr. Canter—But, my dear brother, think of the strain on my conscience. —Ally Sloper.

Home, Sweet Home.

Little Girl—Let's play we're married and keepin' home.

Little Boy—Let's don't. My teacher says it is wrong to fight. —Pearson's Weekly.

LIFE LINES ON THE FOOT.

Secrets They Reveal to the Student of Character.

There is a man in Philadelphia who claims that it is much easier to read one's character and past and future from the maps on the soles of one's feet than it is from the palms of the hands. He calls it "pedology."

The pedologist, while refusing to tell the names of the owners of the feet in most cases, showed a number of diagrams the other day and explained to a reporter how he read the fortunes of the soles.

"Maxine Elliott," he said, "is a public character, and I do not mind mentioning her name. Here is her story. Look at it. It's worth studying, for she is not only one of the most beautiful women on the American stage, but it is remarkable in other ways. Her foot is so beautifully arched that little of her sole touched the paper when she placed her foot upon it. The intellectual and artistic lines are very clearly defined on her foot, and one need but see and hear Miss Elliott speak for a few moments to realize that her artistic and mental capabilities are of a high order. The lines of intuition and imagination are both remarkably long. The cross between the line of love and the head line indicates that in a love affair Miss Elliott would be governed largely by reason. She has strong affections, according to the long heart line."

A contrast to Miss Elliott's foot was that of a factory girl from Kensington. This was a foot common to people of little education. There was scarcely any inset to the foot. The lines of imagination, mental capacities and intuition were very short, and the artistic line was entirely lacking. The heart and love lines were well defined and long. The lines also indicated firmness and great ambition, with a decided fondness for pleasure, so the pedologist explained.

Still another foot was that of a society girl. Here again was the high arch. It showed, among other things, that she did not have to stand on her feet, as did the poor factory girl. The lines told of her having less heart and less ambition than the factory girl too. There was selfishness and vanity in the impression. It seemed well that silk stockings and dainty shoes usually kept it from the sight of those who would read its owner's character in the soles of that foot.

There was the foot of the preacher and the policeman and the lawyer, and each seemed to tell a story in keeping with its owner's vocation and habits. Last of all came the print of the man about town. There was no arch there. It had come down "flat footed." It looked as if it was used mostly in walking up and down a fashionable street and standing about the club. It had good nature and self satisfaction, some generosity and some brains in it, but little ambition. —Philadelphia Press.

The Spread of Superstition.

Some say in Wales that if a mare's shoe is nailed to the lintel of the door no witch can ever enter the house, and that if one of them happens to go into a neighbor's house a broom placed across the threshold by a member of the family will prevent her leaving. Some have said that two straws laid crosswise on the threshold will serve the purpose quite effectually. A neighbor's wife heard one of them mumble something to herself and believed that she was saying the Lord's Prayer backward. Somebody has also said that they can all be sent after Ely and his character into the depths of the Red sea if reconnoitered by an expert, but that the latter must be skilled in arithmetic, algebra, Hebrew, Greek, Latin and all the original (gweiddiol) tongues before he can compass this mighty feat.

The belief in these things is rapidly gaining ground nowadays. It has already crossed the new bridge at Cilgwyn mill and has crept up from Carn Ingli, past Morfa, along the seashore as far as Llech-y-drydd. It is also making its way eastward, having by this time almost reached that famous old stone called Arthur's Quoit, and, if its progress is not checked, it will soon arrive at the Seren office in Carmarthen. The odd thing is that the more the nation was full of praise for the admirable qualities of candor, benevolence and fidelity which the letters revealed. Here is some comfort for any living literary genius who has not yet published his private correspondence. —Longman's Magazine.

Russian Superstitions.

In Russia much rain is considered a good omen. It is believed that the downfall washes away the evil spirits, who would otherwise be hovering in the air ready to work woe to the monarch about to place his crown on his head, the bride on the point of plighting her vows, the babe on its way to the font or whosever might be the hero or heroine of the moment. Further, the superstitious monk believes that each stream of water has its Rusalka, or good spirit, a lovely maiden with yellow hair floating down her back, who spreads plenty around, but should the water die, so that her hair dries, she will die and famine or other disaster ensue. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Crocket's Youth.

An aunt of S. R. Crockett, the Scotch writer, has lived in Springfield, O., for 83 years. She says that among his boyish traits which excited comment was his willingness to make any sacrifice for books. Every penny was saved with that object in view. As he grew older he would spend days upon the hills studying the landscapes he would portray with his pen and writing to gain greater grace and facility.

"I tell you I'm in big luck."

Frank—Did I understand you to say that your father is failing?

Frank—Oh, all right, I was afraid it was something serious. —Boston Globe.

TROUT HOOKED IN QUEER PLACES.

Mr. Kellogg's Lively Fight With a Fish Caught by the Dorsal Fin.

The story which E. Lincoln Kellogg tells in Outing about a five pound trout hooked foul makes trout fishermen think of fish they have hooked in other places than the mouth.

Mr. Kellogg went a-fishing in early spring in a stream near the foot of the Olympic mountain, not far from Puget sound. The water was cold and icy, being melted snow mostly, and the fish did not bite so freely as they would have done had it been later, when the sun had warmed things up. He had fished all the morning, but without success, although his companion had caught a 10 inch fish.

"We fished till noon," he says, "using big and little flies, bright and dark ones, black, blue and brown, red, yellow and green ones, but to no avail. After luncheon we separated. Jack went up stream and I down. Pretty soon I came to a favorable pool. The river came dashing down over a long, steep riffle into a broad, boiling pool, with a big eddy up one side. I cast here and there for a few moments. Then there was a heavy splash out in the foam, and my reel began to buzz. I scrambled to the shore and raced down the stream, entirely unable to stop the fish's mad rush. He came up the eddy, then went down again three times before I could stop him. Then I got him into my net, and saw also how it was that his rushes had been so powerful. The hook had caught in his dorsal fin."

When Mr. Kellogg managed to work the fish into a little cove from which he was also to throw it out, not having any landing net or gaff, he found that it weighed five pounds.

Fishermen know how a fish hooked in the side will pull, more especially in a current. They know further that no fish makes so good a fight as one hooked in the tail flesh, where the hook will not readily pull out. More than one trout hooked in the dorsal fin has struck a fish and instantly thought it was a monster—a four or even six pounder, judging from the way it pulled, but at last, on getting the net under the fish, has found it to be a little fellow of a pound or less hooked in the tail.

The place where fishermen like to hook their trout is down in the corner of the month where the two lips meet. This is a tough place, and a hook fastened there is better than one fastened anywhere else for hold fast qualities. Big trout are seldom or never taken when hooked in the lip, though one hooked in the tongue fights in an up hill struggle. But in either of these places the trout does not make the fight a tail hooked one does.

What Is a Bull?

"A bull," Sydney Smith tells us, "is the exact counterpart of a witicism, for, as wit discovers real relations that are not apparent, bulls admit apparent relations that are not real." I do not think bulls necessarily do that. When Sir Boyle Roche told the Irish house of commons that he wished a certain bill, then before that august assembly, at the bottom of the bottomless pit, he certainly produced a bull, and a very fine one, but as certainly his aspiration does not admit apparent relations that are not real. It appears to me that a bull may perhaps be defined—in so difficult and subtle a matter I don't like to dogmatize—as a real meaning. I observe in passing—and I hope I may not in so doing seem to be lacking in justice to Ireland—that the claim sometimes made on behalf of that country to a sort of monopoly of bulls is untenable.

Excellent bulls are produced by people of other countries. As, for example, by the Austrian officer mentioned by Schopenhauer when he observed to a guest staying in the same country house: "Ah, you are fond of solitary walks, are you? Let us take a walk together." Or by the Scotchman who told a friend that a common acquaintance had declared him unworthy to black the boots of a certain person, and who, in reply to his remark, "Well, I hope you took my part," said, "Of course I did; I said you were quite worthy to black them."

Or, again, when passing sentence on a prisoner convicted on all the counts of a long indictment, observed, "Do you know, sir, that it is in my power to sentence you for these many breaches of the laws of your country to a term of penal servitude far exceeding your natural life?" —Fortnightly Review.

Dr. Robert Fletcher in his "Anatomy of Art"

Dr. Robert Fletcher in his "Anatomy of Art" and Dr. Luigi Sambon having shown conclusively that Greeks and Romans must have had a good acquaintance with surgery, it seems strange that in the medieval European period there was dense ignorance and no skill in amputation. Sword and lance wounds were necessarily of constant occurrence then, and the treatment was merciless. It has been shown before how there was among primitive people a fair acquaintance with surgery and even a knowledge of the refinements of it, as in plastic operations. The discovery of a manuscript of the eleventh century shows us conclusively that among the Arabs and in Syria at the time of the first crusades there was a fair knowledge of surgery and that the Syrians held in poor estimation the Frank doctor. Osama tells how a knight was suffering from an abscess of the thigh and a woman from consumption. The Frank physician had the knight's leg put in a block, and it was hacked off with a sword. The woman was treated by having her hair cut and a cross cut into her skull. The knight died at once and so did the woman. Then the chronicler says that the Syrian doctor who had been called in left disgusted, having learned "more about Frankish medicine than he had ever known before."

A Round of Applause.

A good story is told of Mr. Albert Chevalier when as a lad he was playing an old man's part at the Gaiety theatre in London. One night, at a critical moment, his cue entirely slipped his memory. Glancing toward the prompter's entrance, he saw Irving, Bancroft, David James and Miss Terry, all looking on. He was tongue tied, and for the moment his mind had become an absolute blank. Chevalier was greeted with a tremendous round of applause. Desperation turned to joy, and by the time the cheering outside of the forgotten line recurred to his mind, and from that moment he got on famously. When the performance was over, he anxiously awaited the Kendalls' verdict. "You were a bit uncertain in your lines," said Mr. Kendall. "In fact, one time you stopped dead." "Yes," said Chevalier modestly, "but I was all right after I got that round of applause." "My dear youngster," replied Mr. Kendall, "that round of applause was given when the Prince of Wales entered the theatre." —London Correspondence.

As Full as a Tick.

This expression is common enough in the North Riding of Yorkshire and always has reference to the parasites infesting dogs and sheep. Mr. J. Nicholson's "Folk Speech of East Yorkshire," 1889, has the expression, with the explanation, "A tick is a sheep louse, which has always a full, bloated appearance."

The west Yorkshire equivalent for this expression is "as full as a fitch" (fitch (vetch) and the allusion is, I suppose, to the yield being too large for the pod or husk. The idea is pleasant rather than either "tick" or "louse," and it has the advantage of alliteration. —Notes and Queries.

Speedy Recovery Sure.

Ho—I understand you have been attending an ambulance class. Can you tell me what is the best thing to do for a broken heart?

She—Oh, yes. Bind up the broken portion with a gold band, bathe with orange blossom water and apply plenty of raw rice. Guaranteed to be well in a month. —Boston Traveller.

Worse and Worse.

Sheriff's Sale.

Under Execution and Order of Sale on Foreclosure of Mortgage.

By virtue of an Execution and Order of Sale on Mortgage of Mortgage, issued out of the Superior Court of the County of Sonoma, State of California, on the 20th day of August, A. D. 1896, on a judgment and decree of said Superior Court, rendered on the 24th day of August, 1896, in favor of the plaintiffs as above named and against the defendants as above named, and for costs of suit, amounting to the sum of Fifty-seven Thousand Eighty-six and 85-100 ($57,086.85) Dollars lawful money of the United States, with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum from the date of August 24th, 1896, and for the further sum of $1,000 attorney's fees, and for costs of suit, amounting to the sum of $116.55, and decreeing that the premises described in plaintiff's complaint be sold and the proceeds applied to the expense of said sale, the costs of said action, and the debt due plaintiffs from defendant, the amount of aggregating $58,203.40, lawful money of the United States, and the same to be at interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum until paid.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of said judgment and decree and execution issued, and to me directed, I will offer for sale, near the county hall, 15 inches in diameter, blazed with three notches and marked on the north side W.; thence South 10 1/2° West about 44 chains to a white peg, same size and similarly marked W. and W. H. on East and West sides respectively in a rock pile on a woody knoll, from which peg a black oak 24 inches in diameter, marked W. bears South 55 1/2° West, distant 105-100 chains, and a black oak 30 inches in diameter, also marked W. bears North 68° West, distant 1 15-100 chains; thence South 78° East to the channel of Sonoma Creek; thence down the channel of Sonoma Creek to the Northeast corner of Taylor's 500-acre tract; thence due West 100 chains to said Taylor's tract; thence North 60-100 chains to the Southwest corner of said Taylor's land on the Southern boundary of the said East side P., and from thence West along said Southern boundary to a white peg 4x4 inches, in a large rock pile on open table land, which peg bears South 11° West of the Southwest corner of the 1000 acre reservation of William H. Hood, thence North 11° East 114 chains, more or less, to a white peg 4x4 inches in a rock pile, from which a dead pine tree, five feet in diameter, marked on East side X, bears North 73° West, distant 230-100 chains; thence South 73° East, passing through a redwood tree, a short shoot of an old stump 8 inches in diameter, two large young shoots of another stump 6 feet in diameter, being about 15 feet South, which redwood tree is marked East and West, and blazed on North side and marked S. L., 80-100 chains to a white peg 4x4 inches, marked on the East side W. H., and on the West side P., and from which a white oak 20 inches in diameter with a square blaze on South side and marked E. T., bears about due North 10 feet distant, and a black oak 28 inches in diameter, blazed square on the North side and marked E. T., bears South 11° West, distant 46 chains; thence North 11° East, to a white stake 4x4 inches, on the Southern side of the new county road before mentioned, which stake is marked on the Western side P., and on the Eastern side W. H., and from which a white oak tree 4 feet in diameter and four feet from fence is 57 links distant, and is marked on the West side 57; thence along the Southern side of said county road, to the intersection of the same with the channel of Sonoma Creek; and thence following down the channel of Sonoma Creek to the place of beginning and containing 2,880 acres of land more or less, the above bearings having sole reference to the magnetic meridian of March, 1871; saving and excepting from the above described premises that tract of land conveyed by Lorenzo Gianella and Giocanda Gianella (his wife) to Antonio Sartor and Rosa Sartor (his wife) by deed of December 25th, 1872, and recorded in book 47 of records, page 125, Sonoma County Records, reference to which said deed is hereby made for description.

ANENT THE WATER QUESTION.

Civic pride is one of the virtues necessary to the healthy, normal growth of any community. Just as progressive successes give to a man assurance and strength and entitle him to the respect of his associates so does the possession of the spirit of enterprise by a town place it in the good regard of the community at large. There is much value in the good esteem of one's fellow citizens, and a town or region of which one may say: "Its people believe in improving their resources, enhancing the value of their property and keeping in the forefront of progress," has an advertisement of more positive value than booms and printers' ink.

But there are other and nearer reasons why Sonoma should be possessed of a better water supply. Every person should desire to live in as great comfort as possible. One of the discomforts attendant upon life in Sonoma is the dusty condition of the streets. All should be watered. It is a fact demonstrated by experience that sprinkled streets last longer with a great deal less repair than those which are unsprinkled. Property will be safer and insurance rates less when we have an abundant supply of water. It was not so very long ago that our jail was destroyed by fire and two inoffensive prisoners, charged with being drunk, were incarcerated. And then one does not live simply to live. Much of the pleasure of life comes from surroundings which, in some measure, are in keeping with the desire of every human being for contentment. Green lawns, around our homes—water faucets in our houses. These are two comforts which every one could enjoy did we have an abundant supply of cheap water with a good pressure. And it rests with the people of Sonoma whether or no they are to have an improved water system with its attendant benefits or continue on in the old groove.

JUDGE BARHAM touched a popular chord when he said that the Nicaragua Canal could be built with the money which Huntington owes the government. He has fought against the Funding Bill and for the Canal, two things that recommend him to the voters of the First Congressional District, which he has ably represented in the past.

OUR Democratic contemporary, the Santa Rosa Press, suggests that Bryan, Bread and Butter is as sounding an illiteration as Protection, Prosperity and Progress. May we suggest that the people of the United States have experienced, in times not long past, the delicious sensation of bread, butter and jam in glorious mixture coursing down their alimentary canals.

THE Democratic County Convention is to meet in Healdsburg next Monday for the purpose of nominating county officials. In the list of candidates for nomination to the Superior Judgeship J. C. Sims has been often and favorably mentioned by his many party and non-party friends in this valley and will receive the enthusiastic support of the delegates from this township. He is a man of broad understanding and courteous address, in whom his party may repose entire confidence.

A STORY was recently told of how a preacher tested the effect of the hard times upon his congregation. At the conclusion of one of his sermons, he said: "Let everybody in the house who pays his debts stand up." Instantly every man, woman and child, with one exception, arose to their feet. He seated the crowd, and then said: "Let every man who is not paying his debts stand up." The exception noted, a care-worn, hungry individual clothed in his last summer suit, slowly assumed a perpendicular position, and leaned upon the back of the seat in front of him. "How is it, my friend," inquired the minister, "that you are the only man in this large congregation who is unable to meet his obligations?" "I publish a newspaper," he meekly replied, "and my brethren here, who have just stood, are all my subscribers and—'Hymn one hundred and eighty-seven,' exclaimed the minister.

Shingles that were laid in 1828 are being taken from the Canterbury (N. H.) Congregational Church. They were split and shaved by hand, and are in a perfect state of preservation, but worn thin where they laid out to weather.

D. E. McKINLAY of Santa Rosa has been appointed to succeed Col. C. F. Crocker, resigned, as a candidate for elector at large on the Republican ticket. Mr. McKinlay is a young man of unusual ability. He is a painter by trade. A few years ago he commenced to read law and in a few months developed into one of the finest stump speakers in the State. He is a self-made man and no doubt in time will reach the top-most rung of the ladder in the legal profession.

Don't forget that you can get more goods for the money at the sale of the Schocken stock than at any other sale ever held in Sonoma county.

Your Worst Enemy Writhing

With rheumatism is an individual whom, if you have a Christian spirit you would forgive. He is, no matter what his delinquencies, punished enough. Nothing short of Tophet could enhance his misery. Moreover, he is in serious peril. The disease is always prone to attack his heart and kill him instantly. As a means of curing this disease, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the wisest precautionary measure. Rheumatic invalids can possibly adopt. The Bitters is also a remedy of the greatest utility in material and kidney trouble, dyspepsia and liver complaint, constipation and nervousness. It counteracts the effects of hardships and exposures in damp or inclement weather, and is a capital promoter of appetite and sleep. Give this fine remedy the persistent trial to which all medicines of standard reputation are entitled.

The meals to be had at the Sonoma House, now kept by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stein, are the best to be had in any hotel north of San Francisco.

SONOMA, SEPTEMBER 21, 1896.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Cement Sidewalk.

Slowly but surely the antediluvian wooden sidewalks are giving away in this town to the more modern cement walks. This week F. Clewe, one of Sonoma's enterprising merchants, commenced tearing up the wooden sidewalk and curb in front of his property on the corner of Broadway and Napa streets, which will be replaced with a cement walk and stone curbing. The work is being done by G. De Bernardi of this place, who has the reputation of constructing the best and most enduring sidewalks and curbing in this part of the State.

Republican Primaries.

The Republicans will hold their primaries throughout the county next Tuesday. The polls will be open from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until sundown. The election is for the purpose of choosing delegates to the County Convention to be held in Sebastopol on Friday, September 18th, at which will be nominated two Superior Judges, two Assemblymen and three supervisors. Sonoma will be entitled to four delegates, San Luis to three, Glen Ellen to three and Agua Caliente to two.

No Newspapers or Beer There

Joe Anderson, who left last week for Gold Valley, Sierra county, where he is engaged in teaming in the gold mines, writes us that he must have the INDEX-TRIBUNE. He says that reading matter and steam beer are scarce up that way. No local newspaper and no saloons. He asserts he can dispense with the beer but must have the papers. He reports trout fishing up that way as being great and says he never had such sport in all his life catching the beauties, which vary in size from twelve to twenty inches.

Sold His Farm.

Capt. H. R. Oliver has sold his farm at Pioneer Grove to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Key of Hamilton, Texas. The new purchasers will take possession on or about November 1st. Capt. and Mrs. Oliver will leave for their old home in England immediately upon giving up possession. During their residence in this valley Capt. and Mrs. Oliver have made many warm friends, who will exceedingly regret to learn of their intended leave-taking.

Cramer's Mineral Springs.

The Cramer Bros., whose farm is located a few miles north of Glen Ellen, have lately developed a mineral spring of remarkable curative powers. The water is at present being bottled and sent to San Francisco, and already it has effected cures in a number of cases of rheumatism in that city. The water contains sulphur, magnesia, iron and other minerals.

Real Estate Transfer.

Ed. Goethe on Monday last purchased at administrator's sale 160 acres belonging to the McGinty estate, located several miles north of Glen Ellen. A new vineyard will be set out and other improvements made on the place that will make it one of the finest mountain ranches in Sonoma Township.

More Improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, who have lately been occupying the Burris residence, have purchased an acre of land facing on Spain street from Thos. Brown. They will erect a dwelling and will otherwise improve the property.

Tax Levy.

The City Trustees will meet next Monday evening to fix the tax levy for the year 1896-7. The levy will probably be 30c or 40c on the $100 of valuation.

Big Loss.

We were sorry to learn the other day of J. P. Weems' big loss of 12,000 gallons of cider. It all went into fine vinegar.

Mens' Hats, $1.00. Mens' Shoes, $1.00. Mens' Shirts, 25c. Mens' Overalls, 40c. And you can rest assured the men are buying 'em at the great sale of the Schocken stock.

H. S. Gutermute, sign painter and dealer in paints, glass, wall paper, artists' materials, varnishes, etc., 713 Washington street, Petaluma, Cal.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.

Addresses by Congressman Barham and Hon. S. J. Duckworth.

The Republican meeting at Union Hall last Tuesday evening was largely attended, every seat in the hall being taken.

The meeting was called to order by Robt. Poppe, President of the McKinley and Hobart Club, who introduced Hon. J. A. Barham, nominee for Congress, to the audience, about one-half of which was composed of ladies.

The Judge's speech, which consumed nearly an hour, was listened to with marked attention and he was frequently interrupted with applause. If he is as popular elsewhere as in Sonoma he has a dead cinch on his Democratic and Populist opponents for representing the people for another term in Congress.

He was followed by Hon. S. J. Duckworth, an eloquent and forcible speaker. He worked up considerable enthusiasm among the Republicans and his plea to the young men, who were about to cast their first vote for President, to support McKinley and Hobart was a masterly effort, and one, too, that won for the Republican standard bearers not a few votes.

The McKinley & Hobart Glee Club, composed of Wm. E. Thomas, Benj. Weed, L. Leech and A. G. Leech, interspersed the speaking with a number of campaign songs which brought down the house.

At the conclusion of the meeting, which ended with three rousing cheers for the Republican nominees, the floor was cleared and under the management of Vice-President J. H. Seipp dancing was indulged in until 12 o'clock.

Dunbar-Agnew.

Mr. J. J. Dunbar and Miss Ida Agnew were quietly joined in holy wedlock last Wednesday, September 9th, 1896, by the Rev. Mr. King of Napa at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Agnew. The house was prettily decorated with evergreens and flowers. The bride was attired in a becoming navy blue and seal brown changeable silk. Her little niece, Miss Florence Cooper, acting as maid of honor, carried a beautiful bouquet of cream roses tied with satin ribbon. After the ceremony the guests were invited to the dining-room, where they partook of a delicious lunch. Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar left on the afternoon train, amid a shower of rice, for Pacific Grove, where they will spend their honeymoon and attend the Methodist Conference. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Agnew, Mrs. C. C. Champlin, Mr. A. W. Champlin, Rev. Mr. King, Mrs. L. C. Prunty, Mrs. Eschbach, Mr. and Mrs. Minkie, Mrs. Henry Weyl, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Agnew, Mr. A. W. Agnew, Miss Sadie Agnew, Myrtle Minkie, Miss Florence Cooper and little baby Earl Cooper.

Democratic Delegates.

At the Democratic primaries held in Sonoma Township on Thursday last the following delegates were chosen to the County Convention, which meets at Healdsburg next Monday.

Sonoma—Fred'k T. Duhring, J. B. Small and Ed. Gillan. San Luis—Robt. Howe, P. H. Thompson and J. F. Merk. Agua Caliente—J. E. Kearney and Jos. Dowdall. Glen Ellen—M. E. Bones, Fred. Justi and J. M. Hendley.

Brevities.

A new Gasoline Stove, a perfect beauty, only $4.50 at the Schocken sale.

The Bihler estate has been appraised at $80,000. Of this amount $39,000 is in Southern Pacific bonds.

Boys' long Cottonade Pants 50c at the great sale of the Schocken stock.

David Jones, at one time owner of the Bailey Birdsall farm adjoining the Buena Vista ranch, passed through town with his family last Thursday en route to Potter Valley, Mendocino County. For the past nine years Mr. Jones has been farming in Tulare county.

The congregation at the M. E. Church last Sunday was so large that sitting room was at a premium. Far out on the sidewalk was to be seen people standing anxious to hear the young preacher, Rev. O. E. Hotte.

Miss Camella Redmond, who formerly resided in El Verano with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Redmond, was married to Otto A. Harshinger at St. Dominic's Church at noon on Wednesday in San Francisco. The best man was Carl Goetz and Miss Emma Redmond the maid of honor. Mr. Harshinger, who is a young business man of the metropolis, left with his bride for Southern California where the honeymoon will be spent.

SCHELLVILLE SIFTINGS

Mrs. Capt. Hauto visited Sonoma last Monday on a shopping expedition.

Edwin Lord has leased his farm and will shortly remove to San Francisco.

Miss Dora and Zarifa Howe went to Napa to-day, where they will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Dozier.

Large quantities of hay, feed and fruit pass through this place daily by team for shipment to San Francisco by the schooner "Four Sisters."

Peter Hein, the popular draw-bridge tender, entertained a number of friends at his home last Sunday.

Julius E. Poppe of Sonoma is stopping at the Polpula Rancho. He is engaged in improving the water system on the ranch. A large spring of clear cold water has been tapped on the side of a hill in the near vicinity and the water will be piped to the ranch for domestic and irrigating purposes.

GLEN ELLEN ITEMS.

Jacob Friderger Jr. killed a deer one day last week which tipped the beam at 126 pounds.

Granville Harris, expert fisherman and crab-catcher of Tomales Bay, was in town Tuesday.

A marriage is to take place here in the near future. Jim, we congratulate you. Here is our Dr. and Mrs. C. C. O'Donnell are at present in Stockton attending the Admission Day celebration in that city.

Quite a number of Glen Ellenites attended the Republican meeting at Sonoma last Tuesday evening.

Several prominent citizens of this place have a yearning to serve the good people as Supervisor or in the Legislative halls at Sacramento.

The Democrats and Populists opened the campaign here last Friday evening in Mervyn Hall. J. W. Oates of Santa Rosa and Thos. Johnson of this place addressed the meeting.

Miss Carrie Sterling was severely injured last Saturday by falling from a horse she was riding. No bones were broken, however, and she will soon be up and around again.

A social gathering, under the auspices of the Congregational Church, took place at the residence of F. Quien last Friday evening. Games, music and other amusements were indulged in and a good time was had by all present. It is the intention of the church to have weekly affairs of this kind.

We learn that John Kearney and John Malone of this Township have agreed to a joint discussion on the political issues of the day. Arguments have been limited to one-half hour each and the discussion is to be held in Glen Ellen not later than two weeks prior to the election.

REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, Sept. 10, 1896.

Hon. John D. Connolly.

John D. Connolly, formerly of Occidental and an ex-member of the Board of Supervisors of this county, still retains his position as American Consul to New Zealand, to which he was appointed by President Cleveland nearly ten years ago. Mrs. Connolly, who is now residing in Santa Rosa, had a call the other day from Rev. Father Maddux of Auckland, who visited her at the request of her husband. He reported that Mr. Connolly was enjoying good health and was exceedingly popular in that far-off country. Aside from his duties as Consul he is taking an active part in developing the mines of New Zealand, and no doubt when he returns to Sonoma county he will be a rich man.

Rev. John Phelps of Glen Ellen was in town Wednesday.

D. Burris, President of the Sonoma Valley Bank, was in town Monday attending a meeting of the directors.

J. J. Dunbar visited Santa Rosa last Saturday.

Ernest Campbell spent several days of this week visiting relatives in San Francisco.

Will Hops of Alameda is a guest at the Knight residence.

E. H. Wicksham spent last Saturday in Petaluma.

F. W. Russell visited his little son Freddie last Sunday at the Champlin farm.

Helen Church and Florence Dixon drove over to Petaluma Saturday.

Tom Denny of Petaluma was in town this week.

Mrs. J. Burns and little son are visiting relatives at Embarcadero.

Domenico Mazza and Miss Giovanna Proletti were married last Monday by the Rev. Father Whyte. The wedding was a private one, the ceremony being performed at the residence of the pastor in the presence of a few friends. The young couple will take up their residence on the Proletti ranch on the Napa road.

Ben Cook visited Santa Rosa and Sebastopol last Monday. He called on J. P. McDonald, publisher of the Times at that place, and says he has the neatest and best equipped little printing office in the county.

George Sparks has gone to take charge of the Santa Rosa bonded warehouse, where he will remain until the 1st of next month.

Otto Muser is up from San Francisco spending a short time on the Muser farm.

"Apropos" who writes "The Social Swim" in the Santa Rosa Press says: "I wish some one would kindly inform me what the attraction is that draws certain of our young men in the direction of Sonoma so often. Sonoma is the home of some very sweet girls, I know, but which one is it? Is it Miss Duhring, or Miss Campbell, or Miss Hope, or a certain black-eyed beauty, or who? Miss Duhring is a decidedly charming girl, petite, bright, well formed, healthy looking, and always well groomed, and I cannot blame the men for finding her attractive. Miss Campbell, who, by the way, attended the normal school here a few years ago, is not only graceful and charming, but everybody knows she is as good as gold, so everybody likes her. Miss Hope, 'the sweet singer of Sonoma,' is a girl whose appellation does not apply to her voice alone by any means, and she has hosts of friends. The H's are proud, but gracious to their true friends, and many more live there to bear out the town's reputation, and it may be any of these, I suppose."

In the private schools of China a teacher is paid about one cent a day for each pupil.

There is a lime tree at Neustadt, Wurtemberg, which is said to be the largest in Europe. It is over 1000 years old. The many friends of Mrs. Ellen Cassebaum will be pleased to learn that she has returned home and is steadily improving from her late dangerous illness, which for many weeks confined her to her bed in San Francisco.

Miss Pauline Bates will leave to-morrow for a two weeks' visit with San Francisco friends.

Mrs. F. Ehrlich and her daughter, Mrs. W. K. Vance, have returned to their home in San Francisco after a week's pleasant visit with Sonoma friends.

There is no improvement in the condition of Miss Emma Watress, who is suffering from dropsy.
